

Contributors

EWA ANTOSZEK is Assistant Professor at the Department of American Literature and Culture of Maria-Curie Skłodowska University in Lublin. Her interests include American ethnic literatures with a particular focus on Mexican-American and African-American writers, women's studies and representations of space(s) in literature. Her PhD analyzed multiple ways of identity construction in Chicana literature. She is the author of Out of the Margins: Identity Formation in Contemporary Chicana Writings (2012) and several articles analyzing issues related to the situation of ethnic minorities in the U.S. She is also the co-editor of Inne Bębny: różnica i niezgoda w literaturze i kulturze amerykańskiej (Different Drums: Difference and Dissent in American Literature and Culture; 2013). Her current research examines Latina authors and artists in the U.S. (re)writing the border. [antoszek@umcs.edu.pl]

KACPER BARTCZAK is Assistant Professor of American Literature at the University of Łódź. Author of In Search of Communication and Community: The Poetry of John Ashbery (Peter Lang: 2006) and Świat nie scalony (Biuro Literackie 2009); a Fulbright Fellow at Stanford (2000-01) and Princeton (2010-11). His main research interests focus on developing a pragmatist poetics—a poetics which seeks parallels between the work of American poetry and the pragmatist and neo-pragmatist thought. [kacperbartczak@yahoo.com]

BOŻENNA CHYLIŃSKA is Professor of British and American History of Culture at the Institute of English Studies, University of Warsaw. Her research focuses on gender-related and ethical aspects of seventeenth- and eighteenth-century British and Colonial American cultural history. She is the author of The Gospel of Work and Wealth in the Puritan Ethic. From John Calvin to Benjamin Franklin (2012). [b.chylinska@uw.edu.pl]

BRIAN BRODHEAD GLASER is Assistant Professor of English at Chapman University, Orange, USA. He is the Director of the Writing Center there as well. His essays and poems have appeared in such journals as Literary Imagination, College Literature and European Journal of American Studies. He has also worked as a grant writer and dramaturge. [bglaser@chapman.edu]

JACEK GUTOROW is Professor of American Literature at the University of Opole. His academic interests concern American and British modernism but he also writes extensively on contemporary Polish literature. He is the author of five critical books, recently (2012) Luminous Traversing: Wallace Stevens and the American Sublime. He has translated American and British poets (Wallace Stevens, John Ashbery, Charles Tomlinson, Simon Armitage, Mark Ford and others). Currently he is working on a study of life forms in the later writings of Henry James. [jacek.gutorow@neostrada.pl]

JOANNA MAKOWSKA is a PhD candidate at the Institute of English Studies, University of Warsaw, where she is working on the dissertation which examines interrelations between corporeality, subjectivity and textuality in the works of Mina Loy and Adrienne Rich. Her research interests include twentieth-century American poetry, transatlantic modernism and literary theory. She has been recently awarded the JFK Institute for North American Studies and the EAAS research grants. [joannalilia@wp.pl]

ALICJA PIECHUCKA is Assistant Professor in the Unit of American Literature at the University of Łódź. She holds her PhD in American literature from the University of Łódź. Her doctoral thesis was on T. S. Eliot's poetry. Her academic interests include American modernist poetry and contemporary American prose. Much of her research focuses on comparative studies of American and French literature. She is also interested in the visual arts and American visual culture. She teaches, among others, courses in American literature and American painting. A literary critic, she has been a regular contributor to Nowe Książki and Tygiel Kultury. [alicja.piechucka@uni.lodz.pl]

MAŁGORZATA POKS is Assistant Professor in the Department of American and Canadian Studies, University of Silesia. Her main interests concern spirituality and modern American literature. She has published articles in Poland and abroad. In 2009, her monograph Thomas Merton and Latin America: A Consonance of Voices received the best Merton book award from the International Thomas Merton Society. [gosiapoks@poczta.onet.pl]

KAROLINA SŁOTWIŃSKA graduated from the University of Warsaw, Institute of English Studies, where she is now a PhD student and a lecturer. She is interested in literary theory, philosophy of technology, and science fiction, and is currently working on her dissertation, which focuses on the politics of epidemics in American science fiction after 1990. [kslotwinska88@wp.pl]

ISSN 1733-9154

9 771733 915008